

TRICK OR TREAT AND TELESCOPES

Art from Clipart Panda

Put out your telescopes on Halloween!

The Division of Planetary Sciences (DPS) of the American Astronomical Society is encouraging all its members to stage a telescope viewing on Halloween Eve, during Trick-or-Treat time. Put your equipment in your lawn or a neighbor's lawn (with permission) with better viewing, or at your school or community event.

Good views for 2022 include Saturn, Jupiter, and a waning crescent Moon. See <https://earthsky.org/tonight/>

Please send comments and pictures of your events to bonnie.buratti@jpl.nasa.gov so we can feature them in a future DPS talk (all contributors will be coauthors).
